DAN O'CONNOR INTRO

Communication and relationship skills expert Dan O'Connor is an international bestselling author and Amazon customer favorite, a silver play-button award-winning YouTube partner and social influencer, and has just been recognized by FeedSpot for having one of the top three communication blogs on the planet.

His first book, "Energy Vampire Slaying: 101" established Dan as a pioneer and leader in the field of tactical communication--i.e. the teaching of tactics--actual words, phrases and scripts rather than simply theory. Dan's methods help people overcome communication challenges, such as a toxic work environment, working or living with difficult people, standing up for yourself, handling bullies and finding your persuasive voice. Dan's subsequent book "Say This--Not That (the original)" and online courses such as "Step Out of the Shadows and Speak" have earned him critical acclaim, and solidified him as the definitive authority and go-to favorite for savvy communicators in crisis.

Dan has been featured in numerous magazines, and as a guest and collaborator on television, radio, podcasts, and YouTube programs all around the globe, helping to change the collective dialogue one conversation at a time. He has helped clients such as Apple, the USDA, Applebee's, MDAnderson, The US Air Force, and thousands more create an environment where respect, appreciation, and compassion are valued and celebrated, and where creating meaningful, long-lasting, mindful relationships becomes the norm.

Please welcome, all the way from Guadalajara, Mexico or Fargo, North Dakota--as the case may be--:)
